TESTING, FINANCIAL AID
WORKSHOP THURSDAY AT UM

MISSOULA--

Three organizations will cosponsor a workshop dealing with testing and financial aid for the college-bound student on Thursday (Feb. 15) at the University of Montana, Missoula.

Dr. J. Quentin Jones, Denver, Colo., assistant director of the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB), will conduct the workshop, which begins at 9:30 a.m. in the 361 series Montana rooms on the third floor of the University Center.

Jack L. Hoover, director of admissions at UM, said the program "is for high school administrators and counselors and college admissions, records and student personnel officers."

The workshop is sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board and the Montana Personnel and Guidance Association, with the assistance of the Montana State Department of Education.

Areas to be discussed during the one-day workshop will include credit by examination through the College-Level Examination Program (CLEP); "Deciding," which is the newest group guidance curriculum for junior and senior high school students; the College Scholarship Service Need Analysis System, with special emphasis on major changes in the Parents' Confidential Statement (PCS) and the Financial Aid Questionnaire (FAQ); the expanded admissions services built around the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) and the Student Descriptive Questionnaire (SDQ).

Registration for program participants will be at 9 a.m. Thursday in the UC 361 series rooms.

Counselors and personnel officers who plan to attend the workshop, but who haven't contacted the CEEB yet, should notify Jack L. Hoover, director of admissions at UM in Missoula as soon as possible.
